

Roszak, T., Gomes, M. E., & Kanner, A. D. (1995, Eds.). Ecopsychology: Restoring the earth, healing the mind. San Francisco: Sierra Club Books.

Includes:

Brown, L. R. Ecopsychology and the environmental revolution: An environmental foreword, pp. xiii-xvi.

Hillman, J. A psyche the size of the earth: A psychological foreword, pp. xvii-xxiii.

Roszak, T. Where Psyche meets Gaia, pp. 1-17.

ONE: Theoretical Perspectives

Shepard, P. Nature and madness, pp. 21-40.

Glendinning, C. Technology, trauma, and the wild, pp. 41-54.

Metzner, R. The psychopathology of the human-nature relationship, pp. 55-67.

Durning, A. T. Are we happy yet? pp. 68-76.

Kanner, A. D. & Gomes, M. E. The all-consuming self, pp. 77-91.

Aizenstat, S. Jungian psychology and the world unconscious, pp. 92-100.

Barrows, A. The ecopsychology of child development, pp. 101-110.

Gomes, M. E. & Kanner, A. D. The rape of the well-maidens: Feminist psychology and the environmental crisis, pp. 111-121.

Greenway, R. The wilderness effect and ecopsychology, pp. 122-135.

Windle, P. The ecology of grief, pp. 136-145.

TWO: Ecopsychology in Practice

O'Connor, T. Therapy for a dying planet, pp. 149-155.

Conn, S. A. When the earth hurts, who responds? pp. 156-171.

Gray, L. Shamanic counseling and ecopsychology, pp. 172-182.

Harper, S. The way of wilderness, pp. 183-200.

Sewall, L. The skill of ecological perception, pp. 201-215.

Cahlan, W. Ecological groundedness in gestalt therapy, pp. 216-223.

Shapiro, E. Restoring habitats, communities, and souls, pp. 224-239.

Macy, J. Working through environmental despair, pp. 240-259.

THREE: Cultural Diversity and Political Engagement

Anthony, C. Ecopsychology and the deconstruction of whiteness, pp. 263-278.

Mack, J. E. The politics of species arrogance, pp. 279-287.

Roszak, B. The spirit of the goddess, pp. 288-300.

Abram, D. The ecology of magic, pp. 301-315.

Armstrong, J. Keepers of th earth, pp. 316-324.